A special evening was dedicated to the opening of the first international Festival of the short film, which is organized for the first time in the entire history of the Albanian cinematography.

Away from any official manner, free people, just like the art itself and at the same way how art uniquely knows to be imposed, artists, directors, outstanding figures of the art and culture met in Tirana International Hotel to welcome an event that is going to integrate Albania in the world artistic map.

Anagnosti, Gjika, Muca, Ruka, Muharem, or Milkani with his typical quietness, the younger who changed the wind in the Albanian cinema, Xhuvani, Lami, Gorishti, Maltzezci enjoyed with modesty the environment with a smell of the cinema, along with names of the world cinema.

About 30 countries from all over the world, which did not hesitate to say "Yes" to the initiative of Agron Domi and Ilir Butka, showed with their presence in this ceremony that apart from the politics' rumor and far from official protocols Albania remains integrated, at least regarding the cinematography, in the artistic map of Europe and the world. Not at all looking part of a protocol, with the awareness created by art and being at the same time an offspring of art himself, present in the event was as well Tirana Mayor Edi Rama.

The most silent of this ceremony were apparently Agron Domi and Ilir Butka, the ones who one year ago launched and created this event of the Albanian culture, maybe to convey to all the message of "Alternative Thoughts, Similar Views". No one, no matter how he tried was able to have them interviewed at least to be told how did they achieve to establish the structure and the event itself thereafter. But, the old saying "work speaks for itself" seems to be of real value at these moments.

"This festival has been a great spiritual and intellectual investment," Rudina Magjistari, one of the organizers, said in her friendly greeting to the invited people. "We truly believed in the organization of this festival, and it was particularly this confidence that accompanied us in our way. Now, there it is crowned with a geographic extension and an artistic variety you will be able to follow during all these days."

Most of the Albanian media were also present in the official opening of the event, and this not due to the fact that there are no cultural activities to be covered in news editions or newspapers, but perhaps because the magic offered by the camera in making art has arisen the curiosity to be here and present the promotion of the first international film edition in Albania. However, the political phenomenon was absent in this cinema-smelling spirit, but artists did not seemingly care about that.

Concentrated in their minds and friendly conversations, in the sidelining of the projects sleeping in their brains, some of which are un-folded without hesitation, the artists, Albanian and Canadian, Irish and Italian, Spanish and French, Israeli and Greek, American and Ukrainian, enjoyed all of them the language of art and friendship.

"Alternative Thoughts, Similar Views", the motto to accompany them during the long and short days of T.I.F.F. '03 appeared to have given only a slight taste to those who know how to include concepts, life philosophies as well as sadness and the rhythm of human life all in one film.

But, today it will be different. Everyone will give a proper idea realized in the difficult art named cinematography. Fevers of the competition or of what is known as a professional ego, is of course going to offer another kind of emotions. Being more or less winners, they will be all united by being artists and, obviously, by the motto of this festival "Alternative Thoughts, Similar Views". While a glass of wine accompanies with recently born friendships, a sound calls them all... A film is screened in a room... It is Felini's film. It speaks of Rome, and, no doubts, his film cannot help from calling all to be together. Haven't they gathered in Tirana under the motto "Alternative Thoughts, Similar Views"?

What about Felini?
Until four years ago, this city did not have a cinema, and could therefore be compared — by those who have experienced the magic of the big screen — to a house without windows. Today, from the magic window of our house — which is undergoing a lot of restoration — we are given the opportunity of looking at eighty-two gardens of dreams, coming from all over the world. And, for such a special taste of a variety of spiritual landscapes, which are going to be flashed in front of us, we should be grateful to the initiators and organizers of the Tirana Film Festival. Thanks to this Festival, Tirana is now eighty-two steps closer to its dream of being an attractive conventional sign in the international arts map.

Tirana Mayor

“Welcome to Tirana”

Edi Rama Wishes Good Work to T.I.F.F. ’03

Petrit Ruka, Director of National Center of Cinematography:

T.I.F.F. ’03 a Positive Event for Albania

The fact that Albania finally achieved to organize a festival of international dimensions is very positive. “I am saying this as besides the cooperation and presentation of new alternatives foreseen to be displayed in this event, the participants will not only have the opportunity to be acquainted with the Albanian cinematography but, at the same time, they are going to become Albania’s ambassadors in the world.

It will be particularly these invited artists who are going to speak of a different Albania in their countries, a place where they know how to make art.

Of course, this festival has a long way to walk and, why not, the next year the National Center of Cinematography may involve in a cooperation with the Foundation Art Media Albania (FAMA), We, meantime, are thinking to organize the 12th Albanian Film Festival by May, for which we are again open to collaboration, considering also how difficult is to organize such a big event of the cinema.

Vladimir Prifti:

A Film Festival that Brings Novelty and Emotions

I believe that every initiative addressing the creation of a festival makes an opportunity to attract the public. In this respect, every activity of the kind should be welcomed. The festival in question is interesting indeed considering its organization, as it has found itself in the short film, a cinematographic genre that has not yet made its own position in Albania.

Further on, I think it is positive the fact that this is an international festival, which implies an attraction of productions by other countries and this is very useful. Fourth, the festival includes in its program the experimental film at a time when in national activities it has not been introduced as a practice. In this way, I believe that the festival attracts the public also with new experimental forms, bringing people closer to a new type of production. Fifth, the films participating in the festival have been realized not only in celluloid but also in the electronic way. Differently from other international festivals of other genres organized in Albania, this festival offers for the first time a material prize along with the moral one, and, of course, this initiative by the organizers makes the event more interesting.
Alternative Thoughts, Similar Views

Today in Millenium 2

Artistic, Animation, Documentar, Experimental/Student

Today in Competition

1. Suzi Ewing (U.K.)
   Domestic (fiction)
   12 minutes
   Barry struggles to search for a job while he breaks into strangers’ house to clean them.

2. Frank Wimart (Canada)
   The Internal Clock (documentary), 15 min. and 20 sec.
   The unusual relation with time experienced by a religious watchmaker suffering from a condition causing him to age in appearance at half the rate of so-called “normal” person.

3. Koval Stepan (Ukraine)
   The Tram No. 9 Goes (animation), 9 min., 25 sec.
   This Film about one day in tram, about our LIFE.

4. Bujar Alimani (Albania)
   The Kennel (fiction), 14 min.
   Hilo leaves his family in Albania and crosses over illegally into Greece, together with his friend and several others arrives in a house of an old man in north Greece. The old man hesitates to let Hilo inside. Meanwhile, Hilo’s dog takes over the old man’s doghouse...

5. Vincent Hazard (U.K.-France)
   Nicholas (fiction), 12 min.
   Destiny’s games can change the life people with mental disabilities. Nicholas can prove it.

6. Kaltrina Krashiqi (Kosovo)
   Relax (experimental/student), 20 min
   What happens with someone when he/she is granted freedom? An inspector while living in strict discipline is forced to take a vacation.

7. Rosto (Netherlands)
   AngloBilky Evelson (animation)
   9min, 45 sec.
   He had to deal with the smallest and biggest residents of the sky before he reached his destination.

8. Michel Vereecken (Belgium)
   You should make movies (fiction) 8 min
   In a small suburban studio, Paul edits X-movies, and finds his destiny.

9. Giovani Truppa (Italy)
   Remains of Air (fiction)
   16 min.
   Mind / In her sincerity game / At time / Outside of it, / Agitations between absurd / and reality.

10. Momir Matovic (Montenegro)
    The First and the Last (documentary), 17 min.
    Kolj Marc, a 84-year old highlander awakens his/her curiosity.

11. Simone Massi (Italy)
    Get in Position (animation), 14 min.
    He doesn’t stop resisting; he stands in the snow, in the silence, refusing to move.

12. Beyl Koltz (Luxembourg)
    Your Chicken Died of Hunger (fiction), 30 min.
    In a trade fair three men turn up with one sole goal in mind: to steal the safest «bet» of the exhibition, the picture «Your chicken died of hunger».

13. Albert Maltetezi (Albania)
    The Ritual (animation), 6 min.
    As usual, the same thing has happened. It’s difficult to begin, but it’s still more difficult to continue being like

14. Yll Citaku (Kosovo)
    And Now (exp.), 13 min.
    God is not going to change the condition of the people until people change themselves.

15. Jean-Pierre Avoine (Can.)
    Heartstrings (fiction), 14 min.
    Dissillusioned with life and love, Jay goes on quest for higher meaning, only to discover what really pulls the strings of his heart.

16. Tom Zenker (Germany)
    Business as Usual (fic.), 5 min.
    A short, laconic metaphor about our competitive economic system.
Alternative Thoughts, Similar Views

Retrospective in Millenium 1

Presents the Best Short Films

Today are projected realisations of 1933 - 1958, at 17.30

Damiano Damiani

Presents: Children Alone

Showtime: 10 minutes

The film deals with the fantasies and games of a child living in a city and who is obliged to pass a lot of time being alone.

Romolo Marcelini

Presents: Rendezvous in Piazza d’Espagna

This documentary film illustrates the mundane and intellectual atmosphere prevailing in Piazza d’Espagna in a day. During this time one sees in front of him the life of all inhabitants of this square, starting from the shoe-polishers, and going on with painters, poets, actors, religious people, designers, photographers and others.

Francesko Maseli

Presents: Flower Maids

Showtime: 11 min

The film deals with a tiresome working day of some flower maids who move from the most popular to the city’s suburbs and at times they stop in Villa Borghese where they offer violets to people passing by.

Valerio Zurlini

Presents: The Railway Station

Showtime: 10 min, 47 sec

Termini railway station is the point where many people of different languages and dialects meet and are exchanged with each other. But, in some way it is also a place to rest. Here, we see man the way it is, vulnerable in his exhaustion and simplicity.

Giorgio Ferroni

Presents: Confidences of a Cat

Showtime: 9 min and 36 sec

Seemingly, cats as well have a world of their own. It looks like the director of the film Giorgio Ferroni wants to penetrate and present to the public this mystic and intriguing world in details.

Korrado D’Erriko

Presents: Railway Station Rhythm

Showtime: 8 min and 21 sec

It is a film realized in 1933 that depicts a day in the “iron world”, which is nothing else rather than a railway station. The tone used in it is soft and at times ironic, becoming even comic, while the director is in search of repetitive effects that are intermingled with the mechanism of human behavior.

Igor Sephrinsky

Presents: Lights Down in the Cinema

Showtime: 10 min. 32 sec

This is a short film depicting different human types who go to a theater room during an evening; among the other actors is also Adriana Asti.

Michelangelo Antonioni

Presents: N.U.

Showtime: 11 min.

The director brings images from the city of Rome in 1948, the Capital of a country just emerged from the World War II and its remains have not yet been removed from its streets.

Dino Risi

Presents: Nocturnal

Everything in the film happens during one night, which starts with noise of a clock and ends up with a man who puts in order his shoes and enters the city’s obelisk along with the birds. Even though it is entitled Nocturnal, Sala’s film is not at all quiet but it conveys a life full of rumor and actions.